Council Takes First Step on Sewer Bonds, Delays S. Boulevards Action

Would Put Issue To Fall Vote

$500,000 Bond Plan Sought

City council last night indicated it would probably put the question of sewer improvements in Mansfield in the laps of the voters at the November general election.

An ordinance directing the city solicitor to prepare legislation for a $500,000 bond issue for the "improvement, repair and extension of the sanitary and storm sewer system" was passed by a vote of eight to one. The measure was sponsored by Councilman George C. Kyle.

Bond issue legislation, if passed, will be placed on the ballot this fall.

Several of the councilmen appeared to be opposed to last night's ordinance because it outlined no definite improvement program.

Councilman Michael Mihalick, the one dissenting voter, led the demand for a definite program.

"I feel that the voters have a right to at least some idea of how their money is to be spent," Mihalick said after the meeting. "My dissenting vote was not against sewer improvement but only a protest against a too general plan for action."

KYLE REPLIES

As soon as the reading had been completed, Mihalick asked if there wasn't going to be a definite program laid out before the issue was placed on the ballot.

"This is only a general program," Kyle replied. "It takes in the entire city and is for no specific project. It is high time something was done about the sewer situation here," Kyle continued, "and I'm sure the voters will go for the slight cost of this measure."

Councilman Fred Miller sr. then suggested that it might be well to determine how much money would be used for storm sewers and how much would be used for sanitary sewers.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn, who recommended the program, in the first place, then reminded councilmen that "it would take a million dollars to do a real sewer job in Mansfield."

"This program is only a drop in the bucket to be used for rehabilitation and not for a complete revamping. It won't end our sewer problems but at least we hope to get some relief," he said.

As the vote was taken, Councilman Harry M. Bowman, first on the roll-call, voted against passage of the ordinance. Harry J. Hollingsworth, when asked for his Wife Admits Death Shot

LANCASTER —(AP)— A mother of five was held in county jail today in connection with the fatal shooting of her husband in their cottage at nearby Buckeye Lake.

Deputy Sheriff Ted W. Mithoff of Fairfield county said Mrs. Betty Gest, 29, admitted she had fired a shotgun blast at her husband, David T. Gest, 46, in the bedroom of the small house. The shooting occurred last night.

Three of the couple's children were asleep in an adjoining room. Two other children reside in Amanda. Mithoff quoted Mrs. Guest as saying she and her husband quarreled before the shooting occurred.

Finds Cities Under Water

MILAN, Italy — (AP) — Il Corriere Della Sera, a Milan newspaper, said today a Sicilian diver had reported the discovery of three submerged cities near Sicily which he estimated to date from 4,000 to 5,000 B. C.

Dr. Bernardo Brea, director of the Municipal Museum at Syracuse and regarded as Sicily's leading archeologist, said a find of the proportions described was extremely unlikely, although the diver may have found remains of prehistoric civilizations.

Village Debt Studied

City council last night delayed the final move in annexation proceedings until Aug. 16. A special session will be held then to accept apportionment of the village debt of $6,000.

This matter was scheduled to have been disposed of last night.

Instead a committee was appointed to study the apportionment proposal.

The committee is composed of Charles N. Shultz, chairman of the finance committee; Clifford Knarr, chairman of the water committee; and George C. Kyle, chairman of the sewer-garbage committee.

On May 4 council passed an annexation ordinance for the village. However, the indebtedness still remains to be accepted before South Boulevards actually becomes part of Mansfield.

The indebtedness was determined at $6,000 by the county commissioners and the county auditor. It was the result of a general sewer bond issue in the village.

The special committee was appointed by Council President Paul W. Bush following a motion to that effect by Councilman Harry J. Hollingsworth.

South Boulevards' mayor, Harry E. Colbow, was present during last night's session but he did not address council regarding the annexation.

Southerners Block Action

GOP Retreating From Filibuster

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A drive to end the special Congress session next Tuesday took form today as Republican senators met for a decision on anti-inflation, housing and civil rights bills.

Up for consideration of the 51 GOP members was a plan to concede southern Democrats a victory in their filibuster and replace the disputed anti-poll tax bill with a proposed constitutional amendment.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), who predicted the Tuesday quitting time, said the group appeared about evenly divided on the poll tax proposal.

Southern Democrats have said they would not filibuster against a constitutional amendment, which would need approval by 36 states. In any event, they apparently had won their fight against special-session action on the House-approved bill to knock out such levies by simple congressional action.

The Republican choice thus lay between trying to kill the poll tax the hard way—by changing the constitution—or letting the whole matter go over until January.

However, Senator Morse (R-Ore.) made a fighting retreat last night against the Dixie word offensive on the poll tax question. He held the floor for over two hours defending the constitutionality of the House measure.

Fight Pledged By Irgunist

JERUSALEM—(UNS)—The militant and almost legendary leader of Irgun Zvai Leumi forces in Palestine pledged a fight today against all attempts to "wrest Jerusalem from Jewish control."

The call for resistance by Menahem Beigin, commander of Irgunists since 1943, was made in an address from a hotel balcony overlooking Zion square.

Thousands packed the square and neighboring rooftops to hear the man who was Britain's public enemy No. 1 in Palestine until termination of the British mandate.

FEMINIST DIES

NEW YORK — (UP) — Mme. Rosika Schwimmer, 70, Hungarian-born feminist and a controversial figure in world peace movements for half a century, died last night in Mt. Sinai hospital after a year's illness.

First Polio Case In City

City health authorities today reported the first case of infantile paralysis in 1948 in Richland county as a 20-year-old college student was taken yesterday to Children's hospital at Columbus for treatment.

The first victim of the year was Jack Gaff, of 233 Lexington avenue.

Dr. Harry Wain, city-county health commissioner, said Gaff first became ill on Friday. When it was determined he was suffering from polio he was taken to Columbus for specialized treatment.

In reporting the case, Dr. Wain cautioned Mansfielders against becoming alarmed. "Polio is an indefinite thing," he said, "and one case indicates no definite trend."

Gaff, a student at Purdue university during the school months, was employed for the summer at the Martin Steel Products company.

Hips, Away! Paris Dress Makers Say

PARIS —(UNS)— Milady will lose those wolf-call-evoking curves if she follows the dictates of Paris fashion designers this season.

The newest "new look," unveiled by Parisian fashion pacesetter Jacques Fath today, features the "pencil-slim" silhouette.

Models who seemingly hadn't eaten for days were recruited for the Fath display. As the guests tippled champagne and munched caviar, they showed dresses so narrow as almost to prevent their walking.

The gowns still emphasize the narrow waist introduced with the "new look," and they are still long. But the flowing lines of the "new look" are to become the "old look" now.

DRISCOLL RECOVERING

PHILADELPHIA —(UNS)— Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey was recovering today following an abdominal operation at Presbyterian hospital in Philadelphia.

Guardsmen Maintain Watch

Dayton Union Votes To Continue Strike

DAYTON—(AP)—Hopes of an early settlement in the Univis Lens company labor dispute faded today after Local 768, United Electrical Workers (CIO) voted to continue the strike "until a satisfactory agreement is reached."

Steel-helmeted national guardsmen, called in Monday to prevent further picket-line violence, maintained their watch over non-strikers reporting for work this morning.

There were only a few pickets, and unless more mass plant demonstrations were called by unionists, city officials had hopes the violent stage of the strike might be passing.

The strike committee of the UEW declined to reveal its future strategy. After last night's meeting, it called for a public rally for 4 p. m. Wednesday in support of the strike, and another membership meeting at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

Leothar Wornstaff, head of the local, said last night's vote to continue the 92-day old strike was unanimous.

As the workers filed through guard lines to enter the plant this morning, only five UE pickets paraded in front of the plant gate. Only a handful of spectators were on hand in contrast to the hundreds who had jammed the area in previous days.

Frank Welling, Univis vice president, said production at the plant reached 50 per cent of capacity with 464 of the company's 650 employes back on the job.

Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich.), left here by army plane this morning after completing the first phase of a congressional investigation into the Univis strike.

Before boarding the plane with his investigating staff, the Michigan representative issued a statement in which he said, "Violence on the Univis Lens picket line is beyond doubt the work of professional agitators."

Dem Headquarters Bans Segregation

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Democratic National committee has banned race segregation in its headquarters staff in a new bid for Negro support in the presidential election.

Confirming the change, National Chairman J. Howard McGrath told a reporter the committee "merely is being consistent" by putting into effect a policy urged by President Truman for government jobs and the armed forces.

Late News Bulletins

Firm Will Replace Strikers

DAYTON—(AP)—The Univis Lens company, operating under protection of national guard troops, announced today it would proceed immediately to replace striking employes. M. H. Stanley, president, estimated 150 to 200 persons would be hired to bring the plant's production pay roll up to the normal 658.

Beam To Defend Daniels

Court Names City Attorney

Attorney Lydon H. Beam of the law firm of Beam and Beam was appointed late yesterday to represent Robert Murl Daniels at his trial on charges of slaying John E. Niebel, Mansfield reformatory farm superintendent; his wife, Nolana, and their daughter, Phyllis, 20.

Beam was named by Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch after Daniels told the court he was unable to employ counsel.

Judge Kalbfleisch said Beam at first declined the appointment, but agreed to accept at the insistence of the court.

Beam is the son of Attorney L. H. Beam, who was the defense counsel for Charles Wilson in 1936 in his trial for murder, the city's last sensational murder case.

ENTERS PLEA FRIDAY

Daniels will be taken before Judge Kalbfleisch Friday at 9:30 a. m., to enter a plea to a triple indictment for murder returned Monday by a county grand jury.

The arraignment, previously scheduled for today, was delayed to permit Beam to confer with Daniels before the plea is entered.

Scheduled to be arraigned Friday at 10 a. m. are 11 other defendants, named in other indictments returned by the grand jury Monday.

Killer Pair Golfed Here

Parents Visit Daniels In Cell

Rumors that Robert M. Daniels and John C. West had visited Coolridge golf course on the afternoon before the brutal slaying of John E. Niebel, his wife and daughter, Phyllis, were confirmed today by Mr. and Mrs. Fred F. Huntsman

Huntsman is proprietor of the Coolridge course.

Daniels, meanwhile, refused to see any newsmen following a visit yesterday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Daniels, 211 Norwich avenue, Columbus. The parents talked with the confessed slayer in his cell in the women's section of county jail yesterday afternoon and then returned to Columbus.

The Huntsmans said West and Daniels "came out of the woods at the seventh hole" on the afternoon of July 20 and "left the same way."

"The one we later identified from newspaper photographs as West, rented clubs," Mrs. Huntsman said. "The other, Daniels, walked around the course with West but did not play.

"Daniels asked my husband a lot of questions about our Doberman pinscher and Mr. Huntsman told him that the dog was gentle, but would probably attack strangers at night. That night we had prowlers!"

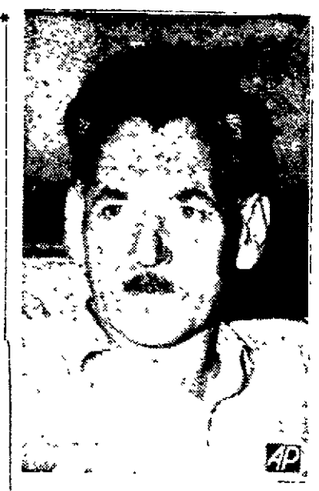
Golfers who were on the course with the killer-pair said that West was continually driving into the foursome ahead of him.

Fewer Polio Cases Found

RALEIGH, N. C. —(UNS)— North Carolinians were hopeful today that the state's worst polio epidemic may be declining. Tuesday's report of 16 new cases was the smallest one-day total since July 6.

State health authorities said they will have definite indications by Friday or Saturday whether the epidemic reached its peak during the week ending July 23 — is now declining.

Total number of officially-reported victims stands at 1,139. There have been 62 deaths from polio this year.



NATHAN SILVERMASTER

WILLIAM REMINGTON

Disclaims Spy Ring Complicity

Remington Case Fight Looms

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Nathan Silvermaster refused today to say whether he is or has been a communist. He admitted naval intelligence once sought his removal from the government, alleging he was a communist and could not be trusted.

Silvermaster, born in Russia but now a naturalized citizen, violently attacked and denied the testimony of Elizabeth Bentley, who called him the leader of a Soviet spy ring operating in the United States government and said she believed him to be an agent of the Russian secret police.

While the hearing was in progress, a new fight was shaping up between Congress and the White House over records of federal employes in the Senate investigation of the "Remington case."

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), chairman of a Senate investigating committee, said the group "could issue a subpoena" to get records it asked for last Friday on William Remington, commerce department official accused of giving information to a communist agent.

Miss Bentley took the witness stand before the House un-American activities committee to repeat her charges against Silvermaster after he refused to say whether he knew the woman.

She said Silvermaster once gave refuge to Earl Browder, one-time Communist party head in the U. S.

Silvermaster asserted that an admission that he knew Miss Bentley, like an admission that he is or has been a communist, might incriminate him.

He told the committee that he asked Lauchlin Currie to use his influence to obtain an "unbiased investigation" of the charges made against him by naval intelligence.

Currie, wartime White House assistant to the late President Roosevelt, has been named by Miss Bentley as a "contact" for the spy ring she said she served as courier.

REMOVAL DEMANDED

Silvermaster said the office of naval intelligence demanded his removal from the board of economic warfare. He said the only charges that he was a communist and could not be trusted were "false."

He said the war department conducted the investigation he asked, and presented to the committee a copy of a letter from former Secretary of War Patterson, "clearing" him of the Navy's charges.

In response to a question by Rep. Hebert (D-La) Silvermaster declared "I don't like the communist form of government."

After Silvermaster had refused to answer a barrage of questions on whether he was a communist or whether he had maintained a photographic laboratory in his home to photograph government documents, the committee called Miss Bentley to the witness stand.

Silvermaster was excused temporarily and the committee heard again from the woman who made the original charges against him.

Rep. Mundt (R-SD) bluntly told Silvermaster that his refusal to answer questions before the House committee, where all the laws of perjury apply, "puts you in a very bad light."

Soviet Zone Feels Pinch Of Blockade

Parley Action Remains Secret

BERLIN — (INS) — The Russian blockade of Berlin appeared to be backfiring today with serious effects on the Soviet zone's economy.

The Russian zone was afflicted with power failures, railroad train wrecks, factory shutdowns, and strikes—all attributed to western retaliation to the Soviet blockade.

A breakdown of the important Russian zone power plant at Klingenberg resulted in the cancellation of express train service over a large area, and the shutdown of a number of important factories.

The breakdown was ascribed to the fact that the Siemens plant in the British sector, which normally overhauls the equipment of the Klingenberg plant, has not been accepting this work since the blockade.

Strict secrecy still hid the results of the Monday night Kremlin session of Premier Stalin and the three western ambassadors for discussion of the blockade.

Paris foreign ministry informants believed a new meeting of Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and the American, British, and French ambassadors is probable.

There is no specific word that the ambassadors again will see Stalin soon in the attempt to gain Soviet lifting of the Berlin siege.

Lt. Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, the British occupation governor, is believed by some informed sources to have talked with Foreign Secretary Bevin on all aspects of the case, and also scheduled creation of a west German government. Robertson flew to London today.

The constituent assembly for this western regime is to meet next month. The Russians have tried to halt this political step.

New Royal Romance Hint Stirs London

LONDON — (AP) — Talk about a possible new royal romance has London society all abuzz today. The talk links Princess Margaret with the Marquess of Blandford, handsome, 22-year-old cousin of Winston Churchill.

The princess, who becomes of age (18) on Aug. 21, has been seen in the company of Blandford frequently since he returned from duty in the Middle East as a lieutenant in the Life guards.

Princess Margaret, palace circles report, has said quite frankly that she wants to marry "when I meet the right man."

Belgium Out Travel Trade

OSTEND — (AP) — While the rest of little Belgium still booms with post-war plenty, its seaside resorts are plunged in the gloom of their worst summer season in years.

It began with severe international currency restrictions which kept the British away and continued with torrential rains which kept most of the Belgians away as well!

The firmness of the Belgian franc—which is proudly called here "the European dollar"—had a two-edged effect on Belgium by the sea. It caused the French and the Dutch to stay away for fear things were too expensive, and at the same time induced many more Belgians to go abroad where they could get a good rate for their money.

Many small boarding-houses (pensions) which entertain the same British families year after year, this time got letters of regrets. Belgium is not one of the countries offering a specially cheap tourist rate of exchange for British visitors, and a holiday with only five pounds to take along is naturally out of the question for most. So the British went southwards to France or northwards to Holland and, with them, fifty percent of Belgium's tourist business went elsewhere. The loss must be somewhere around two million pounds sterling, as shown from the government tourist board's own figures for last year.

And the rain has done the rest. Ostend's eleven first-class hotels, which have 726 rooms, had only 40 guests between them at the beginning of the month, according to a member of the coastal hotel union. A 200-roomed hotel at Westende had only two guests for its staff of 20 to wait upon. A hotel at Knocke chalked up an order of one cup of tea for one guest throughout a whole weekend. It was the same thing all along the sixty miles of Belgium's coast.

Legion Juniors Still Going Strong at Columbus

Gorman-Rupp, Komito's Win Tourney Games

Ashland Indians Out; AC, Tools, VFW Play Tonight

BUCYRUS—Mansfield still boasted of six teams in the district softball tournament after Gorman-Rupp and Komito's Clothes won games last night.

Gorman-Rupp walloped Weaver Market of Mt. Gilead, 21-7, while Komito's eliminated another Mansfield entry, Penn Auto, by an 8-7 score. Biggest upset of the night came in the other game, when W. and W. Provision of Marion eliminated the Ashland Indians, 3-1.

3 GAMES TONIGHT

Mansfield nines will be in action in all three of tonight's games. Mansfield AC will meet Galion Perfection Steel at 7:15. Other games will pair Farm Tools and Bucyrus Lions at 8:30 and VFW with Marion Smitty's Grill at 9:45.

Quarter finals will start tomorrow night with Marion W. and W. Provision meeting Komito's and Ohio Sport Center meeting Shelby.

Gorman-Rupp hit everything but the umpire last night as it scored 11 runs in the fifth inning for the biggest single outburst of the tournament. Pete Campbell, Wayne Hough and Manager Nick Weber all got three hits apiece.

Weber and Catcher Paul Wolf hit home runs.

Stretch Regula, meanwhile, had rough going in the early innings, giving six runs in the first three frames. He settled down, however, and after the big Gorman-Rupp outburst, coasted to victory.

BIG INNING

In the other game, Komito's also took advantage of a big inning. Trailing 2-1 going into the second inning, they tallied five times and then coasted in. Penn Auto rallied for two runs in the bottom half of the seventh but fell one short of the mark.

Penn Auto outhit their opponents, 13-9.

Hager Raps 34 To Pace NJ 'A'

Al Hager once again was the pace-setter in the News-Journal A league last night as he fired a two-under par 34 at Possum Run.

Bernie Mathias, touring the course in even par figures had to be content with second place while Carl Kurek, Ed Blonston, Pete Zeides and Cid Mathias all took 37's.

PD's Bar and Blue Goose Tavern are tied for the loop second half lead with 10 points while Flexible Conveyor and Ideal Billiards are deadlocked for third with seven points. The other four teams each have five points.

VISITOR WINS TROPHY—William Lersch, 13, Chicago, who is visiting with his grandparents in Mansfield during the summer, won the Johnny Appleseed area rotating rifle trophy Saturday, placing first among 48 contestants with a score of 169 out of a possible 200.

72,000 Fans See Satchel Beat Nats

CLEVELAND—(AP)—He was making his first starting appearance as a major leaguer last night, but old Leroy (Satchel) Paige came through. He pitched the Cleveland Indians into first place.

"Startin' a game is a lot easier than goin' in to try to save one," he drawled in the dressing room as Ed Klieman was finishing out the last two innings. Satch had departed for a pinch batter, but the Tribe finished ahead of Washington, 5 to 3. That left Cleveland in first by a couple of percentage points as Chicago knocked out Philadelphia.

The long, lean pitcher wasn't using much fancy stuff in his seven-inning stint. He hadn't pitched a full game all year, but had taken part in eight of the Indians' contests for 18 innings, winning one and losing one. During that time he had given only two intentional walks.

RECORD CROWD

There were 72,434 fans in the stadium—largest night crowd in the town's baseball history—when the ageless Negro went to the mound. But at the start, the famous Paige control was lacking. With one out in the first inning, he passed Al Kozar and Gil Coan in succession, and both scored when Ed Stewart lined a triple to left center.

After that old Satch settled down. He issued another pass in the third and a final one in the seventh, but he scattered a total of seven hits and had six strikeouts. He used his "hesitation pitch" to get the last one, Eddie Yost.

The blooper he used just once. "It's better to be a few runs ahead when you use that one," he said. "You can't tell what might happen."

At the plate, Satch had one out of three, a scratch single to deep short in the sixth inning. That was right after Jim Hegan had slammed a home run to break a 3 to 3 deadlock. In the fourth inning Paige had grounded out with the bases full, and when the same situation arose in the seventh, Manager Lou Boudreau sent Hal Peck to bat—Hal forced Hegan at second.

And when someone asked him whether he was ready to start every fourth day he came back, "I used to start every second day and do relief in between. That every-four-days would be a vacation."

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

PITTSBURGH—Rusty Payne, 182, San Diego, Calif., knocked out Sid Peaks, 217, Louisville, 4. Charley "Zivic" Afflis, 157, Pittsburgh, outpointed Laverne Roach, 157, Plainview, Tex., 10.
MIDDLETOWN, O.—Joe Discepoli, 131, Cincinnati, outpointed Gene Spencer, 135, Chicago, 10

Dutch Bader Hurls One Hit, 3-0 Win

COLUMBUS—Mansfield's American Legion Juniors took another step toward what would be their first state championship when they defeated Springfield, 3-0, yesterday. The victory was their second in the tournament and 18th straight for the season.

Ray "Dutch" Bader held the opponents in the palm of his hand all through the game and came within two putouts of a no-hit game. He allowed a texas league single to fall in short left field with one out in the ninth inning for Springfield's only hit. He walked two.

Mansfield will meet Lancaster at 2:30 p. m. this afternoon as part of today's five-game card. Four of the 14 teams in the joust fell by the wayside after losing their second game yesterday.

Other scores yesterday were: Cincinnati 6, Sugarcreek 3; Zanesville 8, Columbus 1; Youngstown 5, Port Clinton 3; Cleveland 9, Portsmouth 5; Lancaster 17, Marion 4; Lima 10, Cuyahoga Falls 9. Columbus, Port Clinton, Portsmouth and Marion were eliminated.

Big Mike Gruber, Mansfield third-baseman, belted his second home run in as many days. Yesterday's blow was walloped over the center fielder's head with Cy Elsass aboard in the ninth inning.

Mansfield got its first run in the fourth inning when Sparkie Watts tripled between right and center and Ken McCally squeezed him home. Watts, regular shortstop, will be Manager Dewey Durant's likely hurling choice today with Lou Gregorio coming back tomorrow.

The tournament will continue all week with the finals Saturday. Yesterday's second win marked the farthest Mansfield has ever advanced in the tourney in nine trips.

Only .006 Separate 4 Top Teams

By LOU GARAVENTE

NEW YORK—(INS)—The Cleveland Indians took possession of first place in the American league today—the third team to occupy the post in three days.

Last night the Philadelphia Athletics tumbled from first to fourth place, the same nosedive the Boston Red Sox took Sunday.

Dick Fowler, the A's ace pitcher, had a one-hitter through eight innings, but the Chicago White Sox bunched two hits in the ninth to tie the score at one-all.

In the tenth, Fowler issued two successive walks and pinch-hitter Jack Wallaesa drilled a single to left for the ball game, 2 to 1, Chicago's fourth hit. Reliever Howie Judson was the winner.

Leroy (Satchel) Paige won his first game as a major league starting pitcher to move Cleveland into first place. Old Satchmo pitched seven innings against Washington and, aided by Catcher Jim Hegan's sixth-frame homer, won his second game against one setback. Ed Klieman took over for Paige in the eighth. The Indians won, 5 to 3.

The win gives Cleveland a .596 percentage. Right behind the tribe with a .594 mark are the New York Yankees, last year's world champions. New York unleashed a 12-hit, three home-run bombardment against Detroit to win behind Frank Shea's four-hitter, 15 to 3.

George McQuinn, Tommy Henrich, and Yogi Berra led the attack against four Tiger hurlers with home run blasts. Tiger outfielder Vic Wertz hit a homer in the second inning.

The Boston Red Sox also scored 15 runs on 12 hits in defeating the St. Louis Browns, 15 to 8. Boston, now sporting a third-place mark of .592, banged six Brownie hurlers around, including among their hits home runs by Stan Spence and Ted Williams.

However, the Red Sox suffered a jolt when Jack Kramer suffered a shoulder injury in the third inning. It was not immediately determined how long Kramer will be out.

In the National league, the Boston Braves continued to slip. Billy Southworth's charges lost their third straight game, a 5-to-4 setback to the Cincinnati Reds.

Boston's lead was shaved to 4½ games and the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers are but three games behind in the lost column.

Johnny Sain, Brave ace with 13 wins, was knocked from the box in the fourth. Nelson Potter, American league castoff, replaced Sain and retired 14 consecutive batters before yielding a run in the eighth. Herman Wehmeier, although relieved by Harry Gumbert in the eighth, received credit for the win, his eighth, and third over Boston this season.

Rain forced postponement of scheduled games among the other six teams in the National league.

Americans Running Wild With Olympics Half Over

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Wembley, England—(AP)—The Olympic track and field games passed their half way mark today with the United States well on the way to equalling or bettering its greatest triumphs in other modern Olympiads.

At the end of four days of international competition, 14 individual champions had stood proudly at attention in the stadium while their national anthems were player. Seven times it was the "Star Spangled Banner."

THREE REMAIN

There remain ten more finals to be held before the track and field games end on Saturday. The United States seems assured of winning four and has a possible chance in a fifth.

Thus far the American team has captured the following individual titles:

It now apepars likely to win the 400 and 1,600 meter relays, the decathlon and the 110 meter hurdles.

OTHER EVENTS

The other events on the next four days of competition are the javelin, 400 meters, 3000 meter steeplechase, 1500 meter run, 10,000 meter walk, and marathon. Only in the 400 meters and javelin do the Americans have any real hope of winning and in those the possibilities are slim.

No other nation is even remotely close to the United States in the matter of first places and in the track and field point score the Americans have 131 to runnerup Sweden's 44.

Richland Farmers Get $80,000 for Joining AAA Program

1,086 Units Take Part During Year

Taylor Reveals Figures For '47

Payments to Richland county farmers by the government in the 1947 Agricultural Conservation program totaled $80,064 97, it was announced today by the AAA office here.

Practices for each farm are approved by the county committee of the AAA Farmers were required to sign a farm plan before becoming eligible for government payment for carrying out the practices

Guy Taylor, chairman of the AAA committee, announced that 1,086 farms were included in the program last year. Total acreage covered by the program was 127,895 with 80,762 acres of that listed as crop land.

Selection of conservation practices was made in accordance with the conservation needs in the county as a whole Some of the practices applied to all farms while others applied to only one or several farms

PRACTICES LISTED

Standard ground limestone was applied to 15,803 acres on 933 farms, the report stated, while 3,012 acres on 22 farms were treated with hydrated liming material

Other practices were as follows:

Superphosphate on pasture or hay crop, 197 acres on 215 farms Potash (50 per cent muriate equivalent), 701 acres on 137 farms Mulching materials; 60 acres on 16 farms

Green manure or cover crops, winter barley and rye, 349 acres on 27 farms. Crimson clover or rye grass, 6 acres on 1 farm Sweet clover, 269 acres on 17 farms. Mixtures, 55 acres on 2 farms.

Seeding pastures — Ladino clover, 162 acres on 6 farms; biennial and perennial lugumes and grasses, 48 acres on 6 farms; mixtures, 463 acres on 37 farms.

Planting trees—forest, 55 acres on 20 farms, gully control, one-half acre on 1 farm, windbreak, 1 acre on 1 farm

Tile drainage 8,944 rods on 133 farms, open farm drainage ditches, 1,918 rods draining 2,143 acres on 6 farms, establishing sod waterways, 205,000 square feet on 21 fars, contouring intertilled crops, 277 acres on 25 fars, contouring seeding, 562 acres on 37 farms, contour strip cropping, 118 acres on 8 farms.

OLDEST PIG CLUB—Citizens of LaCrosse, Wis., claim oldest, most successful Pig club in nation. The LaCrosse Pig club has been functioning 31 years and has been responsible for building many fine herds through encouraging boys and girls to raise pure bred pigs.

Moth Here Early

Fruit growers in Ohio report earlier appearance of the Oriental moth in peach orchards this year and T. H Parks, extension entomologist, Ohio State university, recommends protecting the fruit from the moth larvae by applying a spray made from two pounds of 50 per cent DDT in 100 gallons of water. Some peach varieties will need one application, others two or three. Tree trunks as well as tops should be sprayed.

Bumper Crop Year Forecast By Ohio State Observers

With corn as the only major feed crop under much weather hazard before harvest, crop observers at Ohio State University predict record breaking crop production in 1948

Winter wheat harvest was well along and the second largest wheat crop ever produced in the U S appears assured If corn fulfills expectations, total production will be the greatest ever for that crop

U. S. farmers planted 500,000 more acres to corn than they anticipated early in the spring, and conditions of the crop indicates an average acre yield of 38.9 bushels. The average corn yield in 1947 was 28.6 bushels and the 10-year average yield is 31.4 bushels. The 1947 harvest was cut by unfavorable weather, but both weather and larger plantings of hybrids favor high corn production per acre this year.

The 1948 increase in corn acreage was obtained at the expense of acreage cuts in hay, oats, spring wheat, peas, soybeans, and sugar beets. The shift in crops favors feed and food production because corn produces more feed and food units per acre than the crops whose acreages were reduced. Conditions also are favorable for oilseed crop production in 1948

Bees Threatened

Ohio beekeepers are watching with considerable alarm the use of 2,4-D by farmers and highway maintenance men for weed control The weed killer already has eliminated many good stands of white clover along highways, and its application in fields reduces the stand of plants which bees normally would visit for nectar and pollen next fall

NOT ENOUGH BALLOTS

DILLWYN, Va —(UP)— Nearly all of this town's 95 eligible voters turned out on municipal election day But by mid-afternoon, after 84 votes had been cast, the supply of official ballots gave out R. K. Ranson, who lost a town council seat by three votes, is considering a contest.

Vet Guldahl Fires Torrid 64

CHICAGO — (U.P.) — The rugged par 72 Tam O'Shanter golf course was due for another drubbing today in the second round of the eighth annual all-American golf tourney.

The mid-summer classic, which pays $37,500 to pros, men amateurs and women, opened with an unexpected surprise. Ralph Guldahl, 36-year-old Chicagoan who twice has won the National open crown, shattered the course record with an eight under par 64.

That performance shaved one stroke off the previous mark, set by Leonard Dodson and tied by Guldahl, Byron Nelson, Bobby Locke, and Johnny Bulla, and it cost sponsor George May $1,000, a new record purse he has offered for some years.

Still his record round was good for only a two stroke lead on the field. Thirty-four pros and four amateurs bettered perfect figures on the 6,825 yard layout, and Dick Metz, an Arkansas City, Kan., veteran, trailed Guldahl with a 66. He was alone in second place.

Dixiecrats Pushing to Gain Big Block of Electoral Votes

Urge States To Call New Conventions

Dewey Plans Change In State Department

(By United Press)

The Dixiecrats counted 24 electoral votes in the bag today in their bid to throw the presidential election into the House of Representatives where the South could toss its weight around.

Mississippi electors are the latest to pledge their support to the states' rights ticket of Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and Gov. Fielding Wright of Mississippi. The state has nine votes.

The Dixiecrats are hoping to get 138 electoral votes in the south and 43 in the border states. If they can deprive President Truman of the South's votes and if the Republicans fail to get a majority of the 531 ballots, then the House would decide the issue.

The Dixiecrats' strategy is to try to get state conventions to reconvene and name new slates of presidential electors pledged to the Thurmond-Wright ticket.

In other political developments:

PLANS CHANGE

Dewey — If elected, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the Republican presidential nominee, reportedly will recommend a complete reorganization of the state department. Dewey is said to favor an extensive "trained" diplomatic crops. He believes that the nation should employ about 1,000 young career diplomats to serve an apprenticeship in various state department posts throughout the world.

Labor — CIO and AFL spokesmen said a Connecticut judge's recent decision, upholding the Taft-Hartley act's ban on political expenditures will have no effect whatsoever on their plans to campaign for a pro-labor Congress.

Virginia — Democratic Sen. A. Willis Robertson won renomination in the state's primary. Democratic victors in races for congressional nominations included Reps. J. Vaughan Gary, and Howard W. Smith, and Mayor Clarence Burton of Lynchburg. In Virginia, the Democratic nomination is tantamount to election.

Missouri — Democratic and Republican organization candidates were generally the victors in the state's primaries. In the race for the gubernatorial nominations, Republican Murray E. Thompson and Democrat Forrest Smith won easily.

Kansas — Former Gov. Andrew Schoeppel won the Republican nomination for senator in yesterday's primary. He will run against former U. S. Sen. George McGill, a Democrat, for the seat being vacated by veteran Sen. Arthur Capper. Gov. Frank Carlson coasted to the Republican nomination for a second term. Most incumbent congressmen, all Republicans, won renomination. But Rep. Wint Smith had a close fight on his hands in the sixth district.

vote, said he wanted to know if this was the final ordinance or whether it merely authorized the solicitor to draw up the necessary legislation.

When it was settled that it was onl yauthorization to the solicitor, the voting began once more, with Bowman changing his vote to favor passage. Mihalick, however, voted against the measure in protest of the indefiniteness of the program.

The sewer bond plan was originally submitted by Mayor Vaughn last year but council turned it down.

Only a few weeks ago the mayor once more submitted the recommendation. Passage of such an issue will necessitate a city tax rate increase.

Deferments Take Proof

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Selective service officials warned today that there's "nothing automatic" about deferments for college and high school students under the new draft law.

The law provides for the deferment of high school students until they graduate or reach their 20th birthday. College students may be deferred until the end of their school year.

Officials said, however, that it is up to the student to prove to his local draft board that he falls within the scope of the law. Otherwise, they said, such registrants may find themselves in the army.

Meanwhile, there were these other draft developments:

Officials said the 4,000 local draft boards being set up to administer the new law will have the " final say" on all deferments, although national headquarters is drawing up the master-regulations.

Youths 18-through-25 who must register for the draft and who are away from home, were instructed to register at the nearest draft board. Their registration cards then will be sent to their home draft boards which will decide their status.

Merchant marine veterans, whose discharges read "not liable for duty," were told that applied only to the wartime draft. They still will be liable for the full 21 months' military service under the new peacetime draft.

Galion Mayor Raps Council, Vetoes Power Plans

City Urged To Pave Grand St.

Pay Hike Adds To Stormy Session

By CATHERINE RORICK
(N-J State Correspondent)

GALION—Mayor H. H. Hartmann's veto on two electric power measures and his reluctant signature of a third legislative measure to provide wage increases for city employes, highlighted a stormy session of city council last night.

In one communication, the mayor said that he had vetoed the report of Service-Safety Director John F. Porter which resolved to put Porter's recommendations for Galion's electric power problem into effect, because: "No provision is made for financing, either for the purchase of outside power or for the purchase of new equipment for the Galion Municipal light plant.

In this communication, the mayor also said that he was not against the purchase of electric power from an outside utility, but against purchase of a 3,000 KW power block and against the ordinance to provide the purchase.

The mayor's communication regarding veto of the ordinance to authorize Service-Safety director to advertise for bods for the purchase of electric energy from an outside source, stated in part: "I believe that this ordinance should not have been made an emergency ordinance because it takes away the right of the people to have a referendum if they wish to differ with their elected officials . . . that the ordinance does not state where the purchased power is to be delivered, when it is of the utmost importance that power should be delivered at the city limits and not within the city."

SIGNS PAY INCREASE

His third communication stated that he had signed the wage ordinance reluctantly, not because he did not believe in salary increases for every laborer worthy of his hire, but because he thought the ordinance had been drawn up hastily and that "I don't think any wage measure which is consequential should be made across the board."

His communications were received by council and placed on record.

At the completion of their reading by Clerk James M. Nichols, the mayor said "You might just as well shut down the plant as to purchase 3,000 KW." This brought a councilman to his feet who declared "You might as well shut down the city as not to purchase the power for which manufacturers have been pleading."

The three legislative measures upon which the mayor acted were passed at the last regular meeting of council.

Action taken by council last night included the passing of an ordinance to accept the Maple Heights plat owned by Robert and Isabel Corry at the southwest corporation limits; the acceptance of a communication from the Northern Ohio Telephone company setting an overall increase in rates for subscribers of the company at 15 per cent; and the acceptance of the mayor's report of collections for the month amounting to $427.85.

The Grand street property owner accused the administration of paving Bloomer street and Payne avenue in order to accommodate a manufacturer, and pointed out that Grand street, with heavy traffic and more property owners, needed paving which had been requested by 13 out of 19 property owners.

The spokesman also charged that the "service director's hands are tied . . . that he cannot say a word not in agreement with the mayor." He further stated that the mayor's claim that it is too near winter to pave Grand street "will not hold because contractors now have new equipment to pave streets in less time than they did 20 years ago."

New Truck Answers First Call

Springfield Firemen Check Blaze

ONTARIO — Springfield Township's brand new fire engine underwent its "baptismal fire" yesterday when the 12-man volunteer department was called out to fight a blaze at the Bob Mowry garage, 1584 West Fourth street road.

The blaze partially destroyed the garage before the Springfield engine arrived on the scene at 7:30 p. m.

SAVE HOME

Quick work by the newly-organized volunteers was credited with saving a trailer and the Mowry residence.

The company fire engine was delivered Friday. Contributions from many farmers and area merchants bought the truck.

Firemen believe the fire started when a tea kettle on woodburner overheated.

Voters' Interest In Fall Election Still Lagging

Mansfield and Madison voters so far are showing only passing interest in the coming election, registrations with the election board show.

Election officials believe, however, that it's because of the summer vacation period and the fact that the November election is three months away.

Yesterday only 12 registrations and transfers were handled at the election board headquarters in the courthouse.

That figure is still higher than the average of recent weeks when about eight persons daily appeared in the board offices to register or transfer.

The last day to register to vote in the November election is Oct. 4.

To vote a person must have resided in the state one year, and in the county and precinct 40 days before the election date.

Small Dog Saves Master, Wife From Attack By Two Bears

ANCHORAGE, Alaska —(AP)— A small dog, unawed by a pair of brown bears, went to the defense of its master and his wife, possibly saving their lives, it was revealed today.

The man, D. C. Walker of Kenai, 55, had his scalp bitten off, his left elbow crushed and eye injured and fang marks over his body. His scalp was sewed back in place and he is expected to recover.

Walker, his wife and small dog, "Boots," were returning home Saturday night from Whitney cannery to dairy farms at the mouth of the Kenai river, where they are caretakers.

Two brown bears broke suddenly from the brush and charged. When 15 feet away, one of the bears lunged for them. Walker pushed his wife clear of the charge, kicked the bear and then fell to the ground to play "dead."

The second bear then charged after Mrs. Walker, who ran back toward the cannery. Boots jumped into the attack and diverted the bear's attention so that it never reached her.

Hughes-Keenan to Leave City Oct. 1

Mansfield will lose one of its oldest industries in October when the Hughes-Keenan Manufacturing company moves to Delaware to combine with two other plants.

Date of moving was announced today by W. E. Post, vice president and general manager of Hughes-Keenan, who said the company expects to leave Mansfield "about the first of October."

The company buildings, located at 621 Newman street, are now partly occupied by the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company under terms of the lease negotiated between the two firms last October. After Hughes-Keenan vacates the plant, the Mansfield Tire will take over the entire plant for storage.

Founded in Mansfield in 1904, the Hughes-Keenan company was incorporated in 1909. At Delaware, the firm will merge with the Burkett Closed Body company of Dayton and the Correct Manufacturing company of Delaware.

The Hughes-Keenan company twice won the Army-Navy "E" award for war materials production. Its war manufacture was devoted to the production of cranes for handling cargo in airfields and for loading ammunition. Hughes-Keenan cranes were used in every theater of operations during World War II.

Ohio Shamed By Strike Violence

OHIOANS had best restrain an inclination to be adversely critical of conditions existing in some of the so-called "backward states" while this "more advanced" Buckeye state permits itself to be subjected to such disorder and violence as has occurred in Dayton during recent stages of the Univis Lens company strike.

It has been necessary, as a last resort, to send National Guard troops to Dayton to maintain order and to protect non-striking employes in their "right to work."

However far the recognized "right to strike" may be stretched, it can at no time be expanded to the point of justifying show of force in preventing non-strikers from exercising their "right to work"—and resort to violence in such instances is rightly regarded as hoodlumism, not intelligent Americanism.

In first doing everything within his power to bring about an amicable settlement of the controversy between management and strikers at the Dayton plant, and by then ordering National Guardsmen to prevent further violence and to protect non-striking employes, Governor Herbert has acted in a way that will meet with widespread approval and will be condemned only by those who object to keeping within the law in directing the activities of pickets and "sympathizers" during the progress of a strike.

Is New Bookie Sanctioned Or Ignored?

WHATEVER Chief of Police Jesse Schwab may have meant by a remark attributed to him in yesterday's mention of a newly opened bookie in a North Main street location, The News-Journal confidently asserts that no information it has printed in reference to the local gambling situation could possibly have hampered the police in the enforcement of anti-gambling laws—if any inclination had been shown to enforce those laws.

After having been asked yesterday if there were any developments in promised investigation of new gambling operations here, Chief Schwab is quoted as having replied: "How can there be when The News-Journal publishes everything we are going to do, in advance?"

If, by any chance, Chief Schwab did not already know that a new horse race bookie had been opened, after the one in the familiar South Main street location had been closed by its long-time operator, that information became available to him in last Saturday's News-Journal, with picture of location, and everything.

The shut-down could have come within an hour, if that had been administration policy, but there is appearance of continuation of an understanding that Mansfield is to have one illegal bookie—without police interference—but that there mustn't be two or more.

Just how such a conclusion is reached has never been explained—as responsible officials are inclined to place this in the "no comment" category. It is quite clear, however, that operation of one bookie is as much "against the law" as two, three or four, and it's a safe assumption that no such racket can be carried on in Mansfield without knowledge of alert patrolmen who stand ready to enforce anti-gambling laws—at any time they are permitted to do so.

'Greater Mansfield Days' Here Again

AUGUST again, and with it another of those buying opportunities presented by progressive Mansfield merchants who co-operate in observing "Greater Mansfield Days," under sponsorship of the Retail Merchants association.

Tomorrow and Friday are the days—and advertisements in today's News-Journal reflect the broad scope of desirable merchandise available in participating stores.

Mansfield has grown greatly since annual August sales days came into vogue here; this city's trading area has expanded even beyond adjoining counties, and Mansfield stores have kept pace with progress to such extent as to occasion surprise among former residents who return for a visit and are delighted by the "new look" that has been taken on by many business places.

While any day is a good day in which to shop and buy in Mansfield stores, tomorrow and Friday will be made particularly attractive by special bargain offers in many lines of wanted merchandise—so plan now to be among those who will take advantage of this opportunity.

He Should Have Had Bible Sooner

IT SOMEHOW seems that the gift of a Bible to Robert Murl Daniels, as he sits in his cell in Richland county jail awaiting trial for murder, is rather belated recognition of need for guidance in conduct that can be found in this book.

What good, for instance, will it do young Daniels now, to hit upon that ninth verse of the 13th chapter of Romans, and find those fateful words, "Thou shalt not kill"? Possibly, in his childhood, he had never seen those words, nor others of the Ten Commandments of which they are a part.

Possibly he lacked the early training in home, school or church which might have set the pattern of his life along different lines—and possibly, if not probably, there may be some children in this very community whose spiritual education is being similarly neglected.

This is something that merits thought as problems of "juvenile delinquency" are being pondered—and contributing causes disregarded.

The objective, as now stated, is for "a controlled economy within the framework of free enterprise"—which seems sufficiently confusing to serve any intended purposes.

It is the Atchison Globe that presents the thought: "If a lot of men had it to do over they wouldn't marry the same woman—they wouldn't get the chance."

Harry Wade regrets: "All the ingenuity goes to making planes faster; none to schemes for making the mountainsides softer."

English is sometimes confusing, as in the case of whether the reference is to "high stakes" or "high steaks."

What Some Other People Are Saying

LOUIS BUDENZ: "Much of the money used by the communists toward destruction by violence of the American republic came from Hollywood."

* * *

GOV. THOMAS J. HERBERT: "National Guard troops have been ordered to the Univis Lens plant. . . . It is time the public knows about the communistic pattern followed in the conduct of this dispute."

* * *

WILLIAM Z. FOSTER, chairman of the Communist party: "In growing desperation the Wall Street monopolists are now preparing for war with the USSR. This is the meaning of the government's great war budget. . . . The American people better wake up."

Article told of the pastorate in Omaha, Neb., of Rev. Oliver D. Baltzly, former pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church here.

Bank Credit Curb Urged

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — The conversion of amiable banker John W. Snyder, our secretary of treasury, comes a bit late, but still we all perhaps should be grateful for it.

He has come around now, if somewhat grudgingly, to the view that maybe Congress should do something about curbing free-and-easy bank credit, which was what Marriner S. Eccles, then Federal Reserve chairman, urged way last November to check the rapidly mounting inflation.

Banker Snyder was against any such curb then and sold President Truman on that attitude. As a result of the conflict on policy in the higher financial levels of government, Mr. Eccles was demoted from chairman.

Luckily he did not quit in a huff—as he had every provocation to do—but stayed on the Federal Reserve board so that we still have him around to help, as he is doing again by telling the blunt and necessary hard facts of life to congressional committees.

To get back to Banker Snyder—he made an observation the other day which revealed his fraternal feeling toward bankers, to-wit:

"I have always believed that our chief reliance for the control of inflationary bank credit lies in the good judgment of the individual bankers in the 15,000 banks in the United States."

An understandable fellow-feeling—yes. It is not the purpose here to disparage bankers, at least not much. In fact, their judgment is traditionally so cold that they look hard to some of us ordinary mortals, whence comes the caricature of the tight and mean fellow at the other side of a big, shiny desk who squints so doubtfully at our collateral and at the spot on our coat front.

But bankers do have some of the human qualities of the rest of us. They can get caught up in the exhilaration and excitement of such a boom as we have now. Some of us can remember how that happened once before, back there in the high-rolling, let-'er-rip days of the late nineteen twenties before the crash.

* * *

Confidence Was Lost.

IT'S A sharp memory still, especially to us who sat as reporters afterward at congressional investigations and learned how some bankers, too, had finally succumbed to the boom fever and had extended themselves too far and loaned on enterprises that were not sound.

Some of them got mixed up in speculative ventures, and the story of how some of our biggest bankers had misused their stewardship was one of the disillusioning episodes of that era.

Bankers became the villains of that time, as some of us can remember. They were pilloried. A worn-out vaudeville trouper could always get a bitter laugh and pick up his act by some gag about bankers.

The government moved in as a result of what had been disclosed and Congress put more stringent regulations on banking and bankers and financing generally. Marriner Eccles came to Washington in those days and had a part in much of that. Since that time he has had a part continuously in management of the Federal Reserve System and in shaping our financial and credit policies.

meBhd'.dft Fcho nirhN4j art

Bankers won back their respect eventually and could walk down the street again, head high, without hearing a dirty crack and a snicker behind their backs. But they could become the goats again very quick, so important roles do they play in our lives.

It should be a warning to them, as to everybody else, that it again has become apparent to government officials—even Banker Snyder—that some curb is necessary on bank credit. For this is an indication that bankers, too, have been hypnotized by the boom along with so many others.

It's wise to regiment ourselves a little now rather than be regimented later in bread lines and bank lines.

Frankly Speaking

Mustache, Yes or No?

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN

WASHINGTON — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has come to the right place for advice on whether to defuzz his upper lip. I know about the care and culture of mustaches and in particular whether they have political sex appeal in the South.

J. W. Lord of Mobile, Ala., who urged the governor to shave off the facade if he wanted any votes below the Mason and Dixon line, is a mere amateur by comparison. He never even had a mustache of his own. So I suggest that Gov. Dewey quit staring into the bathroom mirror at his brush and take to heart some facts of mustache life:

In the long, long ago, when I was 21 years old and taking my first newspaper job, I was so round and rosy of face that I got no respect from anybody. Also I blushed easily.

When my associates discovered this, my life as a cub reporter was miserable. The only thing to do was to look older in a hurry. A mustache seemed to be the solution.

Nightly I rubbed my lip with hair tonic and lanolin and eventually I obtained a magnificent mustache, which drooped at the ends like a southern colonel's in a whisky ad. Unfortunately it came out a shocking pink color. This caused great merriment in the Chicago office of the United Press. I bided my time.

Upon being transferred to Denver, Colo., where I knew nobody, I bought from a snickering druggist a stick of mustache wax imported from Paris, France. It cost 65 cents, smelled like an explosion in a perfume factory, and was the color of a raven's wing.

I applied this to my mustache and I had no further troubles. No longer did I amuse people. I scared 'em. My mustache bristled at the ends, felt like a board when touched, and rubbed off black when I wiped my mouth.

* * *

Agonizing Experience.

TIME passed, Gov. Dewey will be interested to learn, and I met a voter from the South. She was blue-eyed, beautiful, and fresh from Memphis, Tenn. I fell in love with her. Little did I realize one of the chief stumbling blocks in my way was the ruination by my mustache wax of her napkins every time she invited me to dinner.

But, governor, did she quit inviting me? No sir. She stole my stick of wax and threw it away. My black mustache became pink again, but more subdued than before, and everything was fine until one morning I awoke with a bad hangover.

I staggered into the bath and with trembling hand I began to shave. Before I realized the enormity of my mistake, I had removed the left side of my superb mustache. There was nothing left to do but shave off the other side, too.

Governor, I am afraid it will be difficult for you to realize the horror of what I saw in the mirror. My lip looked long, and white, like something dug from under a rock. I forced myself to touch it with my fingers and it felt spongy.

It took considerable courage to present myself before my favorite voter from Memphis. I thought she'd laugh. But no. She flinched, as though confronted suddenly by Bela Lugosi. You do not want that to happen to you, governor, in the South.

I went into seclusion and soon, b forced culture and sun lamps, I had another mustache. And so, Gov. Dewey, the southern voter and I were married. That was a long time ago and we've lived happily ever since. The mustache, which played so prominent a part in this romantic tale, I still have. The pink is flecked with gray, but otherwise it is none the worse for wear.

My advice to you, governor, is to retain your decoration if you would gain friends in the South. Bleach it if you will, or give it a henna rinse, but under no circumstances attack it with a razor. Better not wax it, either.

How Salary 'Kickbacks' Are Operated

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—One congressman who has sadly ignored the old adage that those who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones is bouncing Rep. J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey, chairman of the un-American activities committee.

If some of his own personal operations were scrutinized on the witness stand as carefully as he cross-examines witnesses, they would make headlines of a kind the congressman doesn't like.

It is not, for instance, considered good "Americanism" to hire a stenographer and have her pay a "kickback." This kind of operation is also likely to get an ordinary American in income-tax trouble. However, this hasn't seemed to worry the chairman of the un-Amercian activities committee.

On Jan. 1, 1940, Rep. Thomas placed on his payroll Myra Midkiff as a clerk at $1,200 a year with the arrangement that she would then kick back all her salary to the congressman.

This gave Mr. Thomas a neat annual addition to his own $10,000 salary, and presumably he did not have to worry about paying income taxes in this higher bracket, because he paid Miss Midkiff's taxes for her in the much lower bracket.

The arrangement was quite simple and lasted for four years. Miss Midkiff's salary was merely deposited in the First National bank of Allendale, N. J., to the congressman's account. Meanwhile, she never came anywhere near his office and did no work for him except addressing envelopes at home, for which she got paid $2 per hundred.

* * *

Thomas and Income Taxes.

THE congressman was very careful about paying Miss Midkiff's income tax except that on March 14, 1944, he wrote the collector of internal revenue asking for a delay in payment for "my clerk," Myra Midkiff, fo rthe year 1943.

"Circumstances have arisen," Thomas wrote, "which make it necessary for Miss Midkiff to request a deferment in the payment of the amount of $118.92 which should be paid with this return. Therefore, I personally shall appreciate it if this payment be deferred for one month."

How "personal" his "appreciation" was, few people knew—certainly not the collector of internal revenue. For it was Thomas himself who was short the money to pay, not his clerk. One month later, Thomas had recouped his financial position and sent the check to internal revenue.

This kickback plan worked so well that four years later, Miss Midkiff having got married and left his phantom employ, the congressman decided to extend it.

On Nov. 16, 1944, the House disbursing officer was notified to place on Thomas's payroll the name of Arnette Minor at $1,800 a year.

Actually, Miss Minor was a day worker who made beds and cleaned the room of Thomas's secretary, Miss Helen Campbell. Miss Minor's salary was remitted to the congressman. She never got it.

This arrangement lasted only a month and half, for, on Jan. 1, 1945, the name of Grace Wilson appeared on the congressman's payroll for $2,900.

* * *

His Wife's Aunt.

MISS WILSON turned out to be Mrs. Thomas's aged aunt, and during the year 1945 she drew checks totaling $3,467.46, though she did not come near the office, in fact remained quietly in Allendale, N. J., where she was supported by Mrs. Thomas and her sisters, Mrs. Lawrence Wellington and Mrs. William Quaintance.

In the summer of 1946, however, the congressman decided to let the county support his wife's aunt, since his son had recently married and he wanted to put his daughter-in-law on the payroll.

Thereafter, his daughter-in-law, Lillian, drew Miss Wilson's salary, and the congressman demanded that his wife's aunt be put on relief.

And when Bergen county officials were a little slow about taking care of Miss Wilson, Thomas showed that he was not a leading Republican politician for nothing.

Writing to Peter Halsted, director of the Bergen county welfare board, the congressman said:

"Dear Pete: You will recall that I suggested that you have one of your assistants contact Mrs. Thomas in the matter of her aunt, Miss Grace Wilson. . . . It is very important that your organization get busy on the case at their earliest convenience . . . It is important that your representative telephone Mrs. Thomas in order to make an appointment."

Rep. Thomas had voted against Roosevelt relief policies, but when it came to his aunt, things were different. Pete Halsted obeyed orders. Mrs. Thomas's aunt was taken care of.

Trouble In Red Army.

REPORTS have leaked out through the iron curtain that an anti-communist movement may have sprung up inside the red army.

According to uncensored reports, anti-government tracts have been circulated among Russian soldiers and have even shown up on the streets of Leningrad. Pamphlets published by an "Anti-Communist Organization in the Red Army" also have been picked up in Vienna which is partly occupied by Soviet troops.

Meanwhile, Lt. Gen. Kuzma Romanovich went so far as to complain in an article in the Soviet army journal recently that discipline has sunk to a new low. He demanded a tightening-up against laxity in the army.

Exposes Hamper G-Men

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — Behind the spectacular Capitol Hill tetstimony of Miss Elizabeth T. Bentley, self-confessed former communist spy, several extremely bitter battles are raging in Washington today.

Some of them, of course, are the inevitable results of staging such a dramatic expose during an election year.

For instance, already a couple of jurisdictional rows have sprung up between Senate and House investigating committees to see who gets the key witnesses first.

This is understandable enough. With such magnificent campaign publicity available, everybody wants to get in on the act.

Also to be expected is the squabble which has sprung up between Democrats and Republicans, the former charging the latter with staging the show to blacken the administration and the latter pooh-poohing any such an idea. That, too, is typical of what happens in event of any sort of election-year expose.

Not so lightly dismissed, however, is the frustrated rage and fury of such organizations as the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the comparatively youthful Counter-Intelligence agency. Whether or not their anger is justified is something which may, even yet, be brought out into the open and also become a campaign issue.

At the moment, spokesmen for the F.B.I. and the C.I.A. are remaining officially silent—although they will talk anonymously to reporters—simply because of the powerful appropriations club which Capitol Hill holds over their heads.

A good many G-men are infuriated because they feel that the congressional hearings are frittering away futilely the results of weeks, months and even years of heart-breaking and often quite dangerous work on their part.

This much of their case is unquestioned: Congressional committee members admit that much of the material brought out in testimony at the hearings was provided by the F.B.I.

Nevertheless, the G-men say it already has been presented to grand juries, and the possibility of getting many—if any—convictions out of it is remote indeed. They claim congressional committees knew in advance that they probably couldn't even get criminal charges filed in most cases.

* * *

Placed On Their Guard.

BASIS of their complaint is their belief that some of the individuals involved are guilty of actual espionage—and that, left alone, the F.B.I. eventually could have piled up the evidence to prove it.

Now they say it will be next to impossible, since the individuals themselves are alerted and will lay low, and the various borderline pinks who have served as informers will be frightened into complete silence.

"How could a police force clean up a city," one department of justice employe asked this correspondent, "if the city council suddenly demanded police records and called in all the stool-pigeons for public testimony? Figure it out for yourself."

Another complaint of the G-men as to domestic results of the hearings was echoed by a counter-intelligence agency source because of its foreign results. It concerned Miss Bentley's detailed description of how the communist spy rings operated.

"Naturally they suspected we knew quite a bit about their methods of operation," both men said in effect. "But as long as they couldn't be certain, they continued to move along pretty definite and well-established patterns — both here and abroad. Needless to say, once we got on a trail, that made our work easier. Now they'll revise their entire espionage systems, as much as possible.

"Furthermore, they can pretty well estimate—as soon as we show up in any given situation—just about how many of their key workers we have spotted. Those people will go underground and we'll have to start all over."

Some congressmen, aware of these protests, have written them off as an administration tactic to stop the expose before it names too many alleged communist sympathizers in high office.

Others, however, are treating them more seriously, with the result that detailed public testimony about the domestic spy-hunt may possibly stop with the conclusion of the Bentley case.

Dave Boone Says:

ELIZABETH BENTLEY says she turned spy because she fell in love with a Russian agent, but it seems to me it took her a long time to come to the conclusion Uncle Sam was a better boy friend.

* * *

It was nice work in point of ease, according to her shocking testimony, and she got secret data from so many Washington departments that she had to tote it in handbags. Now and then she collected so much information for Russia that it had to be microfilmed so she could get it to New York in one strip!

* * *

The admission by a department of commerce official that he got a transfer to his department of a man under investigation as a spy in the war production board is pretty disturbing in view of Miss Bentley's testimony that this fellow was a dependable source of inside tips for Moscow.

* * *

She says Washington official bureaus were full of boys whose boast "I can get them for you wholesale" applied to secrets on which the safety of America depended. What goes on.

AFTER more than a decade, writing a daily farm column becomes a habit, for a family. Whether it's a good habit or a bad one we will not venture to say. We have heard of the man who told his son, "Don't bother me! Can't you see I'm writing a book?" Later on, when the son appeared before the judge for a criminal offense, his plea was, "I didn't know any better, judge. My dad was too busy writing a book about Child Training to ever teach me!"

The privilege and the responsibility of filling a certain space in a newspaper every day seemed like a daring venture for an inexperienced writer, especially at first. If it had not been for the warm, encouraging letters from readers, we might have become discouraged.

Among those letters, during the first six months, was a quaintly whimsical contribution from a man who called himself "Town Crier." He figured we'd taken on quite a job for ourselves, with a farm and all those babies, besides, and if this typewritten page of his would be of any help, on some busy day, we should feel free to use it—or not. His own kids were grown-up and gone; he enjoyed putting words together for his own pleasure; he thought we "had something," if we managed it right.

The effect was that of a steadying, friendly handclasp to a climber on a steep, strange trail. The spirit of the man's offer was wonderful. We thanked him, and accepted it.

Since then, regular readers will recall that Town Crier has contributed various memorable columns, among them the one about the Morning Train, and the one describing the Christmas rush in a moving mail car . . . T. C. was a railway mail clerk for 20 years. Another time he wrote about the statue atop our courthouse at Mansfield, Ohio; and more recently he described the operation of our city's modern sewage disposal plant, where, at present, he himself is manager.

I met the man twice, for two minutes each time, when I was hospitalized. The first call was over and he had gone out, before my wife guessed his identity. Town Crier is an unassuming gentleman of slight build with a shock of white hair and a diffident, preoccupied manner. He considers himself "one of the most unsuccessful men I know of." One thing he admits being proud of—his family, two sons and a daughter. "My wife always claims they're her children, and of course she's right . . . she's—well—right!"

Walter Lippmann—

Bluff Won't Solve Berlin Crisis

In a leading article entitled "The Bitter Choice," the London Economist says that "the western countries have blundered into this crisis and are only just beginning to realize the intensity of the dilemma with which they are faced. They have every right to be furiously angry with the so-called leaders who put them there. But anger will not get them out. Only hard thought and high courage will do that. And it is fortunate that the air lift gives them time to think."

A dilemma is a necessary choice beween two undesirable alternatives. One horn of the dilemma is to present Moscow with an ultimatum that they must raise the Berlin blockade.

An ultimatum, as the Economist says, will not work if it is a bluff, that is unless the Allies show that they "intend war seriously" by a "mobilization in western Europe and the United States, the concentration of aircraft and armor in western Germany, preparations for civil defense and at least the first steps toward a war economy."

The other horn of the dilemma is to negotiate—if not exactly under duress, then at any rate under unfavorable conditions for bargaining. For even if the blockade is raised to permit negotiations, the fact that it can be re-imposed gives the Russians a powerful instrument for bargaining.

NO CLEAR-CUT CHOICE

We shall, it seems to me, be misunderstanding the situation if we think that the issue is whether or not we shall stay in Berlin. The issue is how far the Russians can exploit for their larger diplomatic objectives in Germany and in Europe, the precarious position of the Allies in Berlin.

They have not asked us to withdraw. They have not presented us with any such clear-cut choice, nor allowed themselves to get into the quandary where they must make the fateful decision to start a war or stand before the world, having made a demand which has been rejected. They know that we cannot withdraw and that we must refuse to withdraw, and that, therefore, if they make the demand, they will have to start a war or enforce it.

It is not at all certain that they now want us to withdraw. For as they are playing their cards, the fact that we have to stay in Berlin, but are in grave difficulties in Berlin, enables them to negotiate with the Allies, while we are in a necessitous bargaining position.

The difference between the first notes protesting the blockade and the representations which are now being made to Stalin in Moscow registers the hard reality of the bargaining position

ONE LESSON LEARNED

There is little doubt, I think, that a controlling consideration, in the last analysis the paramount consideration on both sides in this conflict, is the realization that the nation which starts a war is likely to lose it.

No one can say for sure whether the great conflict can be settled without a war, or how far the conviction exists that war is unavoidable.

But what can be said, I think, is that one lesson has at least been learned from the last war: It is that to strike the first blow is the supreme military mistake, that no military advantage that can be gained by it at the outset can make up for the consequences that the aggressor must suffer in the long run.

For in the long run more nations and more people within each nation will rally to a war of defense and resistance than to a war of conquest and adventure. They will fight longer at home than abroad. They will bear the sacrifices more readily for their own homes, their own cities and villages, than for any foreign interest.

The outlawry of aggressive war which is written into the United Nations charter, which was sanctioned by the Nuernberg judgments, rests also on military realities which statesmen and soldiers will, henceforth, ignore only at the risk of military disaster.

Therefore, even though they think war inevitable, or desirable, they will not, if they know what they are doing, allow themselves to get into the position where they must give the order that precipitates the fighting.

This consideration, which moral commitments and military wisdom unite in supporting, plays a decisive part in the present conflict. It restrains both sides from making a demand that is an ultimatum which has to be enforced—restrains us from threatening to go to war to raise the blockade, restrains the Russians from demanding that we leave Berlin or that we accept the conditions they choose to enforce for a German settlement. For the side which delivered the ultimatum would have to start the shooting.

As long as the statesmen do not cross the line to an ultimatum, as long as they keep their soldiers from precipitating an irreparable incident, the issues of the conflict remain negotiable.

The musicians in certain Saratoga spots do not know yet what their pay is to be. Contracts have been signed with that important item left blank. The idea there is something like this, and has so been for years: For eleven months (all except August) when Saratoga is only a sleepy town where a few old people come to take the baths, bandsmen get $60 a week. During the 31 days of racing and sporting life; they $112. If—and that isn't yet definite in any of the places—there is gambling, they $160 each. The employers agree to that and will come through with the difference if, as and when.

Publishers Wrong In Their Guess That Readers Dislike War Books

NEW YORK—(AP)—The second World war, which optimists hope will go down as the last great war on earth, already has turned out to be a literary success.

The continuing post-operative interest in this vast battle of the nations has confounded publishers, and left a number red-faced. They are the ones who rejected good war books because they felt the public was sick of hearing about the subject.

Perhaps the public ought to be, but it isn't. It is only sick of hearing platitudes about the war. It still wants to find out what really happened.

Two of the top dramatic hits on Broadway today are William Wister Haines' "Command decision" and Thomas Heggen's "Mister Roberts." What is the current best selling book of fiction? "The Naked and the Dead," an earthy picture of Pacific ground fighting by Norman Mailer, a young Brooklyn ex-soldier.

Topping the non-fiction list is "The Gathering Storm," by Winston Churchill, a lifelong student of military weather. Another best seller for weeks has been "The Stilwell Papers," the distilled spirits of tart Gen. "Vinegar Joe."

The memoirs of Cordell Hull, former Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, and Gen. George Patton also have been selling in the manner hot cakes are supposed to. And the memoirs are really only beginning to roll from the presses. Stepping up to the book plate next is General Ike himself.

The high level men of our times have been franker in their memoirs than has been customary in other post-war periods. The behind-the-scenes frictions they have disclosed have shocked and surprised many of the combat men who thought the only fighting in war took place on the battlefield.

But nobody fought the same war. The war the platoon scout fights is different from the war the battalion leader knows. So is the war fought by the regimental colonel and the war fought by the Army commander. To know any war you would have to talk to every man who had a part in it, and that is impossible.

But it is possible to experience the feeling common to all wars. This is the function of a real writer. Stephen Crane gave the shock of battle in his memorable "Red Badge of Courage." Erich Maria Remarque told of the impact of war on the soul of fighting men in what is to me the finest war book ever written, "All Quiet on the Western Front."

To know how men in all branches of the services lived during the last war I believe the best single source is the collected dispatches of Ernie Pyle.

A man once described war as "long stretches of utter boredom broken by short periods of excitement or danger." What the boredom means probably never has been better shown than in "Mister Roberts," the story of a battle-anxious young naval lieutenant aboard a cargo ship that never got to the war zone.

The second world war looks like it will be the most written-about war in our history. But it may take it a century to catch up with the Civil war. Gettysburg still means more than Bastogne to the circulating library trade.

City Seeks Change In Route 545

Council Asks Shift To Orange Street

County officials today suspected that city council was attempting to dump the Orange street bridge directly into their laps.

Council last night passed a resolution requesting the state director of highways to re-route State Route 545 through Mansfield in such a way that it would pass over the disputed bridge.

The request was made to the state highway department on the basis that the present route passed through a congested industrial section, causing delays in the movement of traffic.

Prosecuting Attorney Theodore Lutz in June ruled that the county was not required to provide funds for the Orange street bridge maintenance since a state route did not pass over it.

RUSK PROTESTS

County Engineer Walter E. Rusk when told of the council action, said, "I strongly suspect they're just trying to dump the thing onto the county commissioners and the county engineering department."

Rusk said that at one time the route did pass over the bridge.

"The state highway department changed the route several years ago because of traffic congestion at the Pennsylvania railroad crossing on Orange street," he said.

Council last night asked that the route be changed to run from the city limits south on Wayne street to Orange street, west on Orange street to Sixth street, west on Sixth street to Diamond street, south on Diamond street to the present route at Central Park.

Route 545 now enters the city on Marion avenue, running to Park avenue west, then east to Diamond street at the square, then to East Fourth street to Wayne street, then out Wayne street to the city limits.

Another resolution provided for the improvement of Burton avenue between Brickman avenue and Linden road. The resolution called for grading the street to the established grade, constructing necessary storm drainage and covering the road bed with slag or other suitable material.

CITY SHARES COST

The city's share of this improvement was set at $1,728 while property owners were to pay $2,300 in three annual installments.

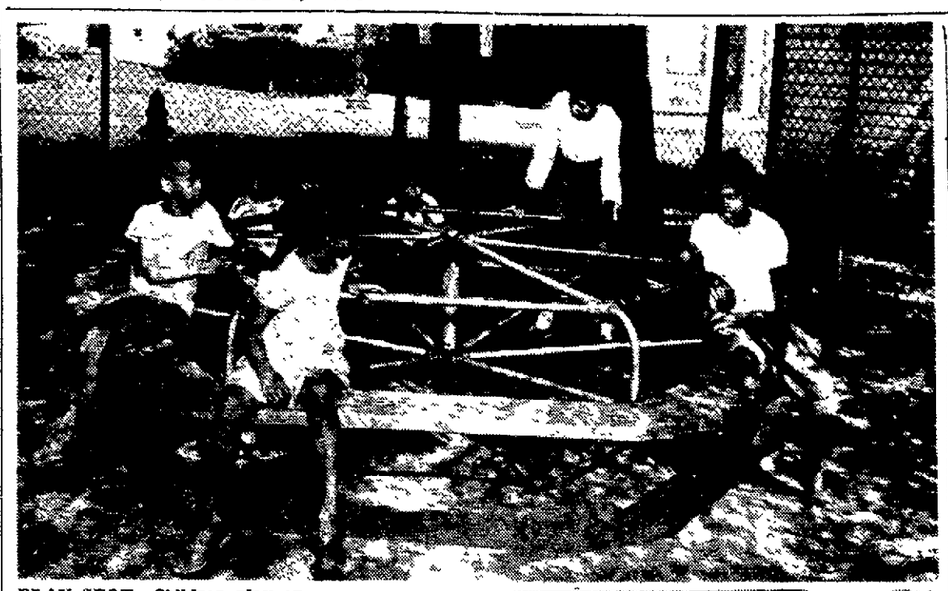
Another ordinance passed during the session called for changing of the name of Parkway street to Parkway drive. The ordinance followed a petition of property owners in July.

The Malo brothers were granted permission to lay a single track railroad siding across Longview avenue near the Empire Steel plant.

Pinecrest street and Wellington avenue came in for improvement as council adopted a resolution authorizing a $6,600 paving job on those streets. Pinecrest will be improved from Park Avenue west to Wellington avenue while Wellington will be paved from Park Avenue west to the end of the street.

FAIR OPENS

PLAIN CITY—(AP)—Plain City's 13th annual independent fair opens today for a five-day stand.



PLAY SPOT—Children play on the miniature merry-go-round at the Friendly House summer playground for colored children as Miss Lessie Mae Janes, director of the playground, looks on, in the picture above. Below, several boys take advantage of the playground's facilities for playing ball. This is the first year Friendly House has sponsored such a program and it is still in the experimental stage. The attendance has not been as great as was hoped, Miss Janes said.

Plan Vote on Fire Bonds

The trustees of Washington township will try to put a bond issue for the purchase of fire fighting equipment on the November ballot. The decision was made at a public meeting Monday night. State Fire Marshall Ray Gill attended the meeting.

The bond issue would require a two-mill levy for five years to provide about $16,000. The money would be used to build a fire station and purchase a fire truck. The station would be located at the corner of Possum Run road and South Main street.

The township now has no facilities for fire fighting.

SOS CALL HEARD

PARIS — (AP) — Air France said today it has received reports that an SOS has been picked up from its giant flying boat, missing since Sunday with 12 persons aboard.

Attendance Lags At City Playground

By NITA BRANSON

The Jones youngsters practically dominate the playground for colored children, opened for the first time this summer at Friendly House.

Out of a dozen children on the playground one morning recently, six were named Jones.

While a dozen doesn't seem like many children for a summer playground project, it represents the average attendance, according to Miss Lessie Mae Janes, 1948 Mansfield high graduate who was employed to supervise the playground this summer.

When the photographer and reporter arrived at the playground after 10 a. m., there was only one small lad in sight, in spite of the fact that the playground is supposed to open at 9:30 a. m.

Miss Janes is disappointed at the attendance.

"The children don't patronize the playground the way they should," she declared. "There are dozens of children in this neighborhood who could enjoy the program."

She said she believed some encouragement from the children's parents would help increase the popularity of the playground.

Miss Janes, who was among the high school's outstanding students, has arranged a program that should prove interesting to any group of children. Yet at no time has attendance exceeded 25, she said.

GAMES PROVIDED

"We have volley and soft ball, all sorts of card games, among them fiddlesticks and a war game that they like, peanut hunts, hikes and story hours," she explained. "Tug of war seems a favorite of the children," she added.

Miss Janes usually gathers a group around her for the reading of stories, "if they can stay still long enough," she said.

Playground hours are from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m., and from 1:30 to 5 p. m. Usually the smaller children, ranging in age from two on up, choose the afternoon hours.

"We are hiring Lessie Mae at $75 a month," Russell Gimbel, director at Friendly House, said. "The program will run for two months."

Then he added, chuckling, "More than half the money for this project came from a collection at the First Congregational church one morning, which Rev. Madden had planned to take without our knowing anything about it. But it's been a welcome addition to our funds and has helped in carrying through this experimental program."

Gain In Divorce Petitions Shown

Richland county's divorce court was a little busier last month than in June.

Thirty-seven petitions for divorce and three for alimony were filed in the court in July as compared with 29 divorce and two alimony actions in June, court records show.

He came to Mansfield in 1929 from Lorain and has held his present position since then.

He is a member of the American Legion, Mansfield-Shelby Foremen's club, Masonic order, Rotary club, of which he is a past president, and the First Congregational church. Iden's chief interest is his work, but he also likes to travel.

Married and the father of one daughter, he lives at 24 Wellington avenue.

COSTUMES DISPLAYED—

Children's Theater goers were treated to a display of the costume designing work done by the young members of the theater last night when more than two dozen costumed dolls and sketches were exhibited prior to the performance in South park. The exhibit, which will be on display again tonight at South park pavilion, includes dolls dressed in duplicate costumes of dresses seen in this summer's productions and colored sketches of stage costumes. The costume class at the theater is conducted every morning by Mrs. Worth Kaufman.

Trucks Leave Damage Trail

Two trucks left a trail of property damage following a collision at 5 p. m., yesterday at Lenox avenue and Springmill road.

Sheriff's deputies said both vehicles were damaged, three small trees were bowled over, two lawn chairs were smashed, and two lawns were damaged. No one was injured.

The accident involved a truck-trailer driven by Charles P. Tufts of Detroit, and a pick-up truck operated by Donald Bennett, Lenox avenue.

Deputies said the "Tufts" truck scraped the back of the pick-up truck, skidded over lawns in front of the homes of Ray Dillon and Harry Jenkins, smashing the trees and chairs.

Army Signs Up 4 More Area Men

The Mansfield Army and Air Force recruiting station announced the enlistment of four Mansfield area men today for three years active duty.

The four new enlistees are Charles Blankenship, Mansfield, R. D. 4; Stanton Jones, Shelby; Fred Robinson, Fredericktown, and James F. Bowie, Ashland.

The men will report to Ft. Dix, N. J., and San Antonio, Tex., for their basic training before being assigned to active service.

8 Escape Injury As Car Overturns

Seven persons, riding with Vincent Schlicht, 19, of Bellevue, escaped injury last night when his car went into a ditch on the airport detour.

Sheriff"s deputies, who investigated, said the accident occurred when Schlicht lost control of his car on a curve after passing another car.

Fee Asked Under Measure

Applicant Must Write Request

An ordinance regulating the establishment of house sewers and tapping city sewer lines was one of 29 pieces of legislation considered last night by city council. The regulatory ordinance was given its first reading.

The measure provides that before a property owner can tap a city sewer he first must make written application at the office of the city engineer to the service-safety director.

The application must be accompanied by a fee, the amount of which is yet to be determined. Upon compliance with all existing ordinances, the applicant will be given a permit.

Under the proposed measure, all "objectionable waste" and industrial waste shall be discharged into the sanitary sewer. Connections with a cesspool or septic tank will not be permitted. Restaurants, hotels or institutional kitchens will be required to install a grease trap to intercept grease and oil.

$100 FINE PROVIDED

Another section of the ordinance provides for a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $100 for each violation of the ordinance.

Other miscellaneous legislation voted last night provided for the appropriation of $3,000 for maintenance of equipment of the street department; the vacating of 10 feet along the east side of Luther place, and appropriation of $100 to the special fund for payment of taxes on the Clear Fork waterworks property.

A total of $32,000 was appropriated to a special fund for construction of a highway to replace part of State Route 97 in the vicinity of the Clear Fork reservoir.

Additional legislation authorized the service-safety director to purchase one carload of cast iron pipe and provided for repairs to the bookkeeping machine in the water department.

Thomas Ansel was granted a license as special police officer at the Mansfield Municipal airport at $480 per year and given permission to occupy the residence located on the airport.

Final appointment of Ansel will be made by the mayor.

John Kuneman Hurt In Traffic

A 71-year-old Mansfield pedestrian was slightly injured yesterday in a traffic accident in Mansfield.

John Kuneman, of 188 Sturges avenue, suffered facial bruises and shock when he walked into the side of a car driven by Irwin J. Amick, 20, of Crestline, police said.

Officers said the mishap occurred at 5:30 p. m. at First and Mulberry streets when Amick attempted a right turn onto Mulberry. Amick told police Kuneman crossed against the light.

The pedestrian was treated by the family physician at his home and was reported in "good" condition today.

Linta Infant's Rites Arranged

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Linta, 340 East Second street, died 11 hours after birth yesterday at General hospital.

Graveside services will be held at 10:30 a. m. Thursday at Mansfield cemetery, conducted by Rev. Frank Stewart, pastor of the Central Methodist church. Friends may call at the Wolford funeral home tonight.

Niece of Mansfield Couple Says Vows to Greenwich Man

IN A PRETTY ceremony in the New London First Methodist church, Miss Sarah Ann Davie became the bride of Robert William Skillicorn. The Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell officiated for the single ring ceremony July 24 at 6 o'clock.

The wedding vows were exchanged before an altar decorated with palms, ferns, and beauty baskets of pink and white gladioli. The scene was lighted with two seven-branched candelabra.

Miss Davies made her home with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Morgan, 175 Marion avenue, and Mr. Skillicorn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Bracker, Greenwich, R. D. 1.

Nathaniel Rosenthal was the violinist for the ceremony and Mrs. Bursley presided at the organ for the pre-nuptial music.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, wore a white brocaded satin gown with a sweetheart neckline. The sleeves came to points over her hands. The full skirt fell into a long train. The fingertip veil was held by a headpiece of orange blossoms and pearls. Miss Davies carried a bouquet of white gladioli with a pink corsage of gladioli in the center.

Mrs. Joseph Speakman was her matron of honor. She wore a yellow taffeta gown with an off-the-shoulder neckline. It had a full skirt. Mrs. D. J. Morgan was the bridesmaid. She had a gown like the matron of honor's in violet. Bronwyn and Cheryl Morgan were the flower girls. They wore pink and green dotted swiss with off-the shoulder neckline. Gareth and Johnny Morgan wore white suits with black bow ties when they served as page boys. The matron of honor carried nosegay bouquet of orchid gladioli. The bridesmaid had nosegays of yellow gladioli. Both flower girls carried nosegays of pink gladioli. The attendants wore tiaras matching their flowers. All the attendants are cousins of the bride.

Mrs. Bracker chose a blue and red nylon print dress for the ceremony. She had a red rose corsage.

At 8 o'clock a reception was held in Fitchville Grange hall. One hundred and twentyfive guests were present for the chicken supper. A three tiered wedding cake centered the table.

For her honeymoon to Leamington, Canada, the new Mrs. Skillicorn wore an aqua crepe dress with a white topper and white accessories. She wore the corsage from her wedding bouquet.

The bride attended Terrace Road high school, England, and is employed as a clerk at the A. & P. Super market. Mr. Skillicorn is a graduate of New London high school and served four years in the U.S. Coast Guard. He is a press operator at the Westinghouse Electric corporation.

Out-of-town guests were present from Detroit and other cities in Michigan.

Voice of Broadway

HIYA, STRANGER!

It's Golden Jubilee year in New York, stranger. Fifty years ago Manhattan got married to Brooklyn and raised a family that includes the Bronx, Richmond and Queens. If you want to get a feeling of what it was like then, jump on the Third Avenue El going downtown to the end of the line and take a look at the old Brooklyn Bridge. City Hall is just across the way, and it still wears a crinoline air that makes even the New Look seem much too modern to match its quaint architecture. There's the Woolworth Building on the Broadway corner. Remember when you were a kid and the phrase "taller than the Woolworth Building, I bet" was as extravagant as "sixty miles an hour"?

Coast uptown a few blocks and you'll hit the Bowery with all its fabulous Eugene O'Neill characters. Or hurry downtown the same distance and you can prance with all the merry little bulls of Wall Street. Me, I'll stroll past the digging of the new Brooklyn-to-Manhattan tunnel and at the Battery throw a salute to our favorite mademoiselle from Paris, the Statue of Liberty. Or take a ferry boat to Staten Island with my best beau and watch the Queen Mary go by.

Don't be too confused by our downtown lanes—remember this is the burg where West Twelfth Street crosses West Fourth Street, and don't let it get you. Uptown, it's simpler.

It's a magical, whimsical city you've come to see, and no guidebook will tell you all the cockeyed facts about it, but perhaps you'd like to pick up a few to take to the folks back home For instance, do you know that the oldest thoroughfares in the Manhattan you're exploring was a street called Great Dock Street? It later came to be known as Pearl Street, and now frequently is referred as as "Poil Street."

You might like to know, too, that this is the town in which the Bowery is said to be the only thoroughfare where it is impossible to find a cigarette butt on the pavement. That Broadway used to be known as the Great Highway—but that was back in 1674 when it became officially known as the Rialto. And that Mott Street and Pell Street, the two capital streets of Chinatown, were not named for Orientals at all, but were christened in honor of a couple of prominent Manhattan butchers named, respectively, John Pell and Joseph Mott.

You can visit this island a dozen times and not learn all its lore—you can live here and the same thing goes. Would you ever guess, for instance, that there are 2,700 kept inside the New York City limits? (And the Police Department has at least 23,000 bulls!) In Chinatown, where 6,000 Chinese dwell, there are only two Chinese laundries. The town boasts an average population of 20,000 taxicabs—but on a rainy night, none.

This is a town where you might sit next to Greto Garbo at an auction at the Parke Bernet galleries, bump into Bernard Baruch in Central park, or have your psyche sifted by Mary Talley at the restaurant named Cerutti's just after she's clutched Gertrude Lawrence's glamorous paw and looked into her shimmering future. You can go through Harlem, where the beauty parlors do their heaviest business at midnight, and you can stroll on 57th street where the big maestros rehearse their bands and the cacophony shrills through corridors and rising elevators. Stand awhile in the cool marble lobby of the RCA building and watch the familier and famous faces floating by — Paul Whiteman, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Mary Margaret McBride, Harry Richman, Fred Allen!

Riverside Drive is a breezy place these nights — and the Hudson is a beautiful sight when the lights are lit. If you want a comfortable couple of hours in a movie house, try the Normandie, a little side-street cinema palace—our plushiest. If you want sophisticated entertainment in small doses, head for the Ruban Blue. If you want champagne in big buckets, your beat is the Stork club, where Sherman Billingsley now serves celebrities their bubbly surrounded by long-stemmed American beauty red roses!

Get an eyeful of our parkways, too—they're the places on this island where the traffic actually moves Notice our handsome cops in the Times Square section, all primed to answer your trickiest questions. Hark to the voices of our cabbies, colorful, loud and educational Don't miss a thing!

And you'll have a sensational time.

Dior Designs To Invade U. S.

NEW YORK —(LP)— The man who invented the "new look" will invade the New York fashion market this fall.

Christian Dior will design separate collections for his Paris custom clientele and his American ready-to-wear customers.

His first American coats, suits and dresses will be on sale in stores in the United States in early spring. Prices haven't been set, but they will be as high as those of comparable American manufacturers, Dior's representatives said. Current prices of such firms range from $100 to $1,000 per garment.

The new firm apparently will put Dior in direct competition with himself in American stores. Many of his Paris customers are American manufacturers and shops who buy models to copy and adapt for sale here.

His name probably has been the most exploited in this country of any Paris dressmaker since the war.

It has appeared on everything from expensive faithful copies of designs to $8.98 dresses "inspired" by his originals.

Dior has made two recent trips to the United States. On both occasions he expressed admiration for the adaptations made of his models and for the "simpler, more functional" clothes of most American women. His American collection will be designed in line with Dior's observations on American women's needs and tastes.

The lowest priced of the garments which have carried the Dior name here will no longer appear. Dior's attorney announced last week that model buyers in Paris would be prohibited from using the name on garments selling for less than $69.95 for dresses, $95 for suits and $15 for coats in order to eliminate association of the name with allegedly inferior merchandise.

Dorothy L. Smith, former fashion director of Carson, Pirie, Scott and company, Chicago, and now managing director of the American House of Dior, said the designer would come to New York in mid-September to prepare his first wholesale collection, which will be shown in late October or early November.

Farmers Get Half of Food Dollar

Marketing Cost Cuts Income

The farmer now gets 50 cents of every retail food dollar spent by the consumer, the Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Agricultural Economics said today

The 50-cent figure was the lowest in five years, the bureau said, dropping from a record-matching 55 cents in January, 1948

The decline in the farmer's share began with the sharp price breaks in February and continued during April and May, when retail food prices increased but prices paid to farmers were comparatively steady.

Charges for marketing the farm food products in a family 'market basket" reached a 28 year high of $346 in May, 1948 This represented an increase of more than four per cent from charges reported for April During the first five months of 1948, food marketing charges show an increase of 11 percent over December 1947

Retail cost of the market basket to consumers was $693 in May—only $2 less than the all-time high record reached in January.

Wholesale prices as reported by the Bureau of Labor Statistics show an increase of three per cent for farm products and an increase of nearly one per cent for foods from mid-May to mid-June

Perfume Makes Beaver Eager

DENVER — (AP) — The Colorado game and fish department has discovered what makes a beaver eager It's perfume. Like lots of two-legged animals, he's a sucker for a scent.

That makes the department's beaver-trapping program a cinch

Herman Wilson, a trapper noticed at a stock show that whenever a heavily-perfumed woman passed the cages the beavers dropped whatever they were doing and started sniffing.

Another time, a beaver wandered into downtown Denver and was captured by rangers He wouldn't have anything to do with the men around the department but when cologne-wearing Georgia Diana, a secretary, came around he snuggled up in her arms

That gave Wilson a slick idea for Beaver trapping

Nothing in the food line attracts beavers at all. Being strict vegetarians, the decaying meat odor which has a fatal fascination for other animals left them cold.

They live largely on the bark of trees and like their steak spelled "s-t-a-k-e."

But when Wilson started sprinkling perfume on his traps the beavers came running.

Wilson won't give out the department s recipe for beaver perfume He's afraid poachers would wipe the idea

Beavers are a nuisance on farm lands because they dam up irrigation ditches. But in the mountains they are valuable in water conservation So when they go to the farms the rangers trap them alive and return them to the hill country.
